The Maine Democrats want the Republicans to carry the country next year.
Their want will be satisfied.

The Democrats in Congress are not friendly to Kelley's bill, which provides for a new and perfect plan of counting the electoral vote. They don't want such a plan. They don't want to be debased of an opportunity of at least "attempting" to steal the vote.

After it had been proved that Hase, late Inspector of the Milwaukee House of Correction, had been guilty of sickening cruelty and gross barbarity in the management of that prison, the County Board of Supervisors rewarded him for his conduct by creating a special office for him, which gives him a salary of $60 per month.

There has never been a time in the history of the Wisconsin Legislature when the Republican majority on a joint ballot was so large as it is now. The Republicans have 44 majority over the Democrats in the Assembly, and 17 in the Senate.
The Republicans should not forget to use this power with a wisdom which will command the good will of the people.

Chicago is again in luck. The seventh National Republican Convention will be held in that city June 3, 1890. Chicago has already had two of these Conventions, the first in 1860—the most memorable political Convention ever held in this country, and which gave the nomination to Abraham Lincoln—and the second in 1868 when General Grant was first nominated.

In the published reports of the award of premiums at the dairy fair held in New York city last week, we notice that Wisconsin took the first butter prize—$100, which was given to Mr. Morley, of Bara-boe. Even the second prize came to Wisconsin, also, that being taken by Mr.
McCutcheon, of Watertown. When Wisconsin can beat any State in the Union butter, it is time to throw up the hat.

Well, it has come to pass that a man has been discovered in the Democratic party who does not believe in "going behind the returns." Clarkson N. Potter, who has his name so prominently associated with an investigation in Congress, and who ran this fall for Lieutenant-Governor of New York on the Democratic ticket, would not give his consent, so far as he was concerned, that the New York Canvassing Board should go behind the returns to correct irregularities, which might give him the office he sought. He said the Board had no right to do that, that there was no authority permitting them to do it, and further that it would not be right to do so.
This is honorable, and should be publicly noticed. The Democratic Returning Board in Maine have a rebuke from Mr. Potter.

We have received the catalogue of the Wisconsin University for the academic year, 1879-80, which shows that there are 431 students in the University. It is worthy of note that of the 324 students in the college studies, only 66 take the ancient classical course. Generally, in the colleges in the United States, the interest in ancient classics, is lagging. Years ago, the boy who entered a college, entered it with the understanding that he was to pursue a classical course, and a college education was not considered practically complete unless a young man, with his general science and modern languages, added a pretty thorough knowledge of the ancient languages. But the times have changed greatly of late years, and comparatively few who enter our great colleges take a full ancient classical course. To the young men of means and leisure, who desires to become an accomplished scholar, the ancient languages are necessary; but to the young man who needs and desires a practical education, whose means are limited, and who wants to take a course in college which will best prepare him for an active business career, the ancient classics are of little use, and are not worth what they cost. This is the popular side of the question, and it appears to us to be the practical idea. Whatever may be the opinions on the subject, the fact remains, that the interest in the ancient classics is fast losing ground in the United States.

There is yet no report from the State Board of Charities and Reform regarding the investigation of the Milwaukee House of Correction. It should have been in the hands of the Governor by the 15th instant, but it had not been finished at last accounts, and when it will be is not known except by the Board. The State Journal which is usually very mild in all its criticisms, and seldom "speaks out in meeting," is pretty severe on the Board of Charities.
It now, regardless of consequences, calls the Board "an organization of sphyxes"; and further, it says the Board "Commenced practice in the art of silence during the Delavan scandal, and ever since that mysterious, mountain-laboring and mountain-baring event, nobody has been able to get within forty rods of the Board: while an attempt to wheedle information out of any of its members, concerning the status of poorhouse bed-bugs, or jail sewers, would be as useless as to interview a last year's crow's nest. These mystic gentlemen always beaming over with owl-like wisdom are more than ever secretive, just now."

This indicates that the Board will neither hurry up with its report nor will it give the public any idea of what it will report.
The Journal very politely says, "by the time the State Board of Charities gets around to business in this matter, the public will only remember the House of Cor-

IT IS CHICAGO.

It Secures the National Republican Convention—Which Will be Held June 3d, 1890.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 17.—The National Republican Convention, at its meeting here to-day, elected Don Cameron Chairman, to fill the vacancy caused by the death of Zachary Taylor; Thomas Keogh, of North Carolina, Secretary, to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of Gov. Richard McCammon; and decided that the Convention should be held at Chicago on June 3.
There were but three considerable points in controversy,—the Chairmanship and the place and time of holding the Convention.
The contest for the Chairmanship, particularly, was exciting, although conducted with the best of feeling. The result showed that the Cameron party had good reason for being anxious yesterday, as the Cameron ticket was elected by exactly the majority of votes (twenty-two) necessary to a choice. It would seem that the claims of the supporters of the Averill ticket, that if they had organized earlier they might have been successful, were well founded. There was no organization against the Cameron ticket until late yesterday, when, at a meeting at the house of Mr. Frye, it was determined that the friends of Blair should unite on General Averill of Minnesota.

The result of the ballot for location was:
Chicago.....24
Cincinnati.....14
Indianapolis.....2

TO WHOM THE CREDIT IS DUE.
It is due to the diligent efforts of Messrs.
Farwell, Root, Jeffries, Nixon, Sullivan, Shepard, and others of Chicago, and the assistance of Egan and Keyes, of Wisconsin, Stone, of Iowa, Martin, of Kansas, Averill, of Minnesota, and others from the Northwest, that the next Republican Convention will be held in Chicago. Mr. Averill is particularly deserving of praise, for when the men who were supporting him for Chairman attempted to defeat the Chicago interest, because some Chicago men were working for Cameron, Averill put his foot down, and made determined opposition, preventing the movement from being carried out.

HUNTED DOWN.

The Would-be Murderer of the Hoskins Family Captured at Blue River, Wis.

GALENA, Ill., Dec. 17.—An Iowa officer passed through Galena this morning, having in charge the man who attempted to murder the Hoskins family, in Hamilton County, Iowa, in June last. The mother and son were frightfully clubbed, and left for dead, and an attempt was made by the would-be murderer to outrage the daughter, Miss Hoskins. The author of the villainous assault upon the Hoskins family was arrested on the 9th inst., at Blue River, by Deputy Sheriff Cole, of Grant county Wis., and was yesterday turned over to the lower officer on a requisition from Governor Foster. The prisoner is a gambler by profession and has served two terms in the Iowa State Prison for grand larceny.

MILWAUKEE MARKET.

MILWAUKEE, Dec. 17.—The wheat market remained quiet yesterday, the advices from abroad affording no encouagement. January options were freely offered at $1.25½ and February at $1.25, a decline of ½¢ from the prices of Tuesday.
Subsequently the former sold at $1.25½, and February $1.27½. The prices then improved, so that on "Change January closed at $1.27½, and February sold at $1.29½. There were but few transactions in cash wheat, and those in No. 2 were at $1.26 and No. 3 at $1.25½. The market was stronger in the afternoon. January sold at $1.26½ up to $1.27½, and February from 1.25½ to $1.26.

INDUSTRIAL SCHOOL.

WAUKESHA, Dec. 17.—The Board of Managers of the Industrial School have elected Wm. Sleep, for many years assistant superintendent, superintendent in the place of S. J. M. Patten, resigned. M. T.
Parks, of Elkhorn, being the only other candidate. Mr. Sleep is fast recovering from his sickness, and will enter upon the duties of his office at once.

It is understood that the board has employed an expert bookkeeper for the purpose of examining the accounts between the school and Mr. Hendrickson, who, it is claimed is indebted to the institution some $3,000, according to the books, but did not know it until his return to the school during Mr. Sleep's illness, after an absence of two years or over.

SICK OF MORMONISM.

OGDEN, Utah, Dec. 17.—Josephine Taylor, aged 22, daughter of the President of the Mormon church, attempted to escape from Utah and her father's harem yesterday. She got on a Union Pacific train, but, having no ticket or money, was put off at the first station east. She endeavored to get the agent at Utahtia to secure her ticket, but he refused, and her father's friends being notified, she was taken back to Salt Lake to-day.

THE INAUGURATION.

MADISON, Dec. 17.—The Committee on Inauguration have decided to invite the military companies from Madison, Janesville, Oshkosh, and Portage, and the Boy Drum Corps from Le Sueur. A military procession will form, escorting the officers to the Assembly Chamber, where they will be sworn in by Chief Justice Ryan, and escorted to their several Departments. In the evening there will be a reception till 9 o'clock, when a grand military ball will take place.

KILLED.

MILWAUKEE, Dec. 17.—This evening Albert Duffy, son of the Fire Department Hose-cart driver Duffy, a young man 17 years of age, was caught by a shaft in Feldner's planing mill, and instantly killed. He was fairly knocked to pieces on the joists over the shaft.

IN THE SOUTHWEST.

A Trip from Janesville to New Mexico and Colorado. A Description of the Great Southwest—Towering Mountains and Magnificent Valleys—Immense Prairies and Great Railways—The Record of an Interesting Trip by Hon. J. B. Cassaday.

To the Editor.
SANTA FE, New Mexico, Dec. 13, 1879.— My trip from Janesville to this city of "the Holy Faith"—claiming to be the oldest European settlement in the United States, has been full of novelty and exceedingly interesting. A sketch of it, and of that young giant corporation, the Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe Railroad Company—just now coming to the front, may be interesting to your readers, especially as it has for some time been largely under the management and control of two Rock county boys, whom your readers will always be pleased to honor.

Leaving Janesville, I took the sleeper on the Chicago, Burlington & Quincy by the way of Hopkins and St. Joseph, Missouri, and Atchison, Kansas, reaching Topeka in twenty-six hours without change of cars.
Topeka, the capital of Kansas, pleasantly situated on a rolling prairie on the South bank of the Kansas river and contains about thirteen thousand inhabitants.

At Topeka I joined a company made up of William B. Strong, General Manager; J. C. Gardner, Assistant; J. F. F.
Gordon, General Freight Agent of the Atchison, Topeka & Santa Fe Railroad Company; Hon. George T. Anthony, ex-Governor of Kansas; Hon. John Francis, now, and for several years, State Treasurer of Kansas; Geo.
T. Peck, Esq., formerly of Janesville, and Mr. Thayer, of Boston.

With such a company, any trip would be pleasant, but especially the one we have made. A day's ride on the cars, is enough to convince the traveler of the immense agricultural resources of Kansas. The State is over four hundred miles long, east and west, and two hundred and ten wide, north and south, with the western end nearly three thousand feet higher than the eastern. It is one vast prairie, with only about four per cent of timber. Kansas is said to be the "State of the size of Wisconsin and the same size of wheat and the same size of cattle."

Starting from Topeka December the 8th, on the Atchison, Topeka & Santa Fe, we bore to the south west over the divide, between the Kansas and Arkansas rivers, and on reaching the latter, we ascended the same, to the city of Pueblo, Colorado, six hundred and thirty-four miles west of Topeka, Missouri. Pueblo contains about 5,000 inhabitants, is one hundred and twenty miles North of Denver, eighty six miles North of El Paso, one hundred and thirty miles North East of Alamosa, and forty miles East of Canon City with which several miles are connected by the Denver & Pueblo Railroad, and under the management of the Atchison, Topeka & Santa Fe, and the right to which, together with the projected road nearly completed from Canon City, North West to Lead ville, has been most bitterly contested, is now pending and undetermined in the United States Courts. At Pueblo, Mr.
Parker, the General Agent of the Denver & Pueblo Railroad, called upon the A. T. & S. F., and Melton Thatcher, a banker at Pueblo, came on board. Returning from Pueblo to La Junta sixty-four miles East from Pueblo, we started for the South West on the New Mexican branch of the A. T. & S. F. Railroad. Arriving at Trinidad, eighty miles southwest of Pueblo, in the evening, we remained until morning in order to enjoy the scenery peculiar to the country southwest of it. Trinidad is five thousand five hundred feet above the level of the sea, with sixteen miles of level, and three hundred feet higher than Trinidad. About eighty miles northwest of Trinidad are the celebrated Spanish Peaks, but from our view by the "foot hills" between them and us. These peaks are about twelve thousand feet above the level of the sea, and about twelve miles apart, and constitute a part of the celebrated Sangre De Cristo Range of mountains extending from Canon City and Leadville to a point about twelve miles southwest of Santa Fe, a distance of over two hundred and fifty miles. From Trinidad we moved southward up the Raton Creek to the summit, in the Tunnel, about sixteen miles up, and in which the railroad is seven thousand six hundred feet above the level of the sea, or sixteen hundred feet higher than Trinidad. A portion of this grade is one hundred and eighty-five feet to the mile. The tunnel is two thousand and twenty-five feet long, and cost one hundred and twenty-three thousand dollars. The progress in building it was only about four feet per day. Prior to the completion of the tunnel the cars were taken over the mountain by twelve backs with three spees on either side, and thus six thousand cars were placed south of the mountain, and there operated one hundred and twenty miles of road for eight months prior to completing the tunnel. The line between Colorado and New Mexico crosses this tunnel three hundred and thirty feet from its southern end. In going up to the tunnel the Spanish Peaks and the Sangre De Cristo Range opposite us come out in bold relief, and the sight was grand beyond description. So, as we passed south of the tunnel, the Sangre De Cristo Range was almost constantly in sight, until we reached this point, and occasionally the Spanish Peaks could be seen, until we got one hundred and thirty miles south of them, when they could hardly be distinguished from white clouds in the heavens, and finally passed out of view by lesser mountains coming between them and us. From the tunnel we moved southwesterly to the end of the track 165 miles distant, or 261 miles from the main line. In going this distance the track passed over and around mountains, through gulches and valleys, and overtable lands, and the several streams having their sources on the eastern slopes of the Sangre De Cristo and flowing into the Cimarron, Canadian, Pecos and Gallisto rivers. At Las Vegas, Don Miguel Otero—a pure Mexican, well educated and of large business experience and influence in the territory, joined our company, and we proceeded to the end of the track—fourteen hundred miles by rail southwest of the main line. Here we remained all night. The mountains, hills and valleys in this section are sparsely covered with scrub pine and cedar, giving the country the appearance of an immense park. In the morning we started with car rriages for Santa Dominga on the East bank of the Rio Grande, forty six miles West of us.

At first we moved up the headwaters of the Pecos passing the ruins of old Pecos mud church, said to have been built by the Indians before the discovery of America by Columbus, and around which cluster many curious traditions. Passing on we soon reached the divide between the headwaters of the Pecos and the Gallisto.
Here Francis and Otero take their teams around by the wagon road about three miles, while the rest of us follow the proposed track through the deep cut about three-fourths of a mile. This summit is spice called Geronimo, for the track at this point is 7,237 above the level of the sea.
Joining our carriage, we passed on the divide toward the broad waters of the Gal-listo some twelve or fourteen miles, passing the stage road leading on our right to Santa Fe, we came to Apache Canon, when Peck and Otero take the teams around while the rest of us pass through the canon where the mountains are several hundred feet high and almost perpendicular on either side where men are engaged with quads and picks, preparing a bed for the rapidly approaching track.

Gauging our teams again we move down into the valley, and out upon the broad prairie on the banks of the Gal-listo, until we reach a Mexican village by that name where we take dinner in "La Doba," constructed of straw and mud, like most other buildings in the Territory.
Having refreshed the "mule men" and the "homer" home, we move on down the dry sandy bottoms of the Gallisto, through narrow gulches and over and around abrupt hills, until dark, when we reach a camp of railroaders, who give us their best tent with a good fire in it, which all appreciated, for the severe cold with a continuous wind in our faces during the whole day, had given us all a desire for rest, even upon the ground. A warm supper, a comfortable sleep, and a good breakfast, prepare us to repeat, in part, the experience of the previous afternoon.

About two o'clock in the afternoon of the 12th, we reach Santa Dominga—a presented Indian city, at the mouth of the Gal-listo on the east bank of the Rio Grande river which runs directly south through New Mexico, and is eighteen hundred miles in length. The Indians at Santa Dominga are civilized and there are about 1,500 of them. As we drove into their town they appeared in large numbers on the tops of their mud buildings. It happened to be for them a gay day.
About fifty masked, were dancing in full costume in the open air. And large numbers of the balance standing around as spectators. Nearly all were well dressed, and they are said to be more industrious, truthful and honest than the native Mexicans.

At 3 o'clock in the afternoon of the 12th we turn our backs upon Santa Dominga, leaving the Pecos, Turco, San Pedro and Zuñita mountains in sight southwest of us, and at home ward by the way of Santa Fe, Santa Dominga is five thousand one hundred feet above the level of the sea, and Santa Fe is thirty miles northeast of it, and two thousand feet higher in the heavens, being at the foot of the southwestern slope of the Sangre De Cristo range of mountains, and looking westward in the rear of the Rio Grande. For four miles we proceed on the river bottoms, then going up on to the first table one or two hundred feet above, we have a splendid drive for six miles to the foot of the second table to a little settlement called La Valja, where the horses and the baggage wagon show weakness and are left. From this point the road for a mile or more is extent and from twelve to fourteen hundred feet high is very precipitous, and all of us walk up, except one in each carriage to drive. The sun was just going down behind the mountains west of the Rio Grande, and as we wended our way, around the spurs and peaks and canyons, the profuse fumes of the steam locomotives, and the roar of the locomotives, by volcanic action, we would at times, as we neared the top involuntarily turn and behold the magnific-cent prospect extending from thirty to eighty miles on either side and in front of us. On reaching the top we resume our places in the carriages and push away toward Santa Fe, on one of the best of roads and as usual a very payment. After some miles, it being dark, and to shorten the distance we take the old road across, instead of going around, and the result is that the most difficult passage on the route was found and three had to hold each carriage while one drove as we pass down through and up a deep notch in the side of the table mountain.
Reaching the main road again, we push on in the dark for a mile or so, when the horses in the forward carriage begin to slacken, and soon after they stop. A moment more and one of the horses begining to reel, and in two minutes he is dead.
It is seven miles to Santa Fe, exceeding cold, very dark, and apparently there are no inhabitants here. I will tell you the rest when I get to Topeka.

Congress-Slow Movements-Keep Still-Policy Counselled-Changes-Prudential Term-Polygamists-Delegate G. Q. Cannon-Colored Emigrants, Large Number in Washington.

There is but little to note of public importance in the proceedings of Congress, even if there were, the telegraph conveys the news to every press throughout the country, so much in advance of the mails newspaper correspondence comes late. This Democratic Congress has been bearing the burdens of statesmanship two weeks, and the result of its labors, so far, are of not much account. Some of the Democratic leaders are doing their best, to impress on their brethren, especially of the ex-Confederate stripe, the "keep still" policy. So much damage was done the party at the late extra session in revealing the true inwardness of Southern designs, and other such installment of imprudent speech-making, would prove the extinguishment of the Democratic party.

The proposal of Representative Pound, of Wisconsin, to change the Presidential term to six years, and the Congressional term to three years, whatever may be its merits, does not seem to meet with popular favor. The current reasoning is, if a President with a four years' term prove a good officer, let him be eligible to a second term, if he prove a bad officer, inculpable damage might be done the country, during so long a period of power.

The anti-polygamist women of Utah, have commenced their intention, to petition Congress, asking for the expulsion of G. Q. Cannon, now the delegate in Congress from Utah Territory. The law of the United States prohibits polygamy, and the United States Congress has sanctioned its constitutionality. Mr. Cannon, it is said, has four wives; he is working for the admission of Utah as a State into the Union. The polygamists of Utah are anxious to be admitted into the family of States, because under State sovereignty, they hope more effectively to fortify themselves against interference with their peculiar institution. Will Congress admit Utah with the foul blot of polygamy resting upon it? The moral sentiment of the country says, no. Will Congress allow G. Q. Cannon, the husband of a plurality of wives, to retain his seat, and thus give countenance to a practice condemned by the civilized world? C. L. EMERSONS-LARGE NUMBER IN WASHINGTON.

There have been stopping in this city the past week, two hundred and forty colored refugees from North Carolina. They were on their way to Indiana, but after reaching here, their funds were exhausted, and they were obliged to stop, until means for continuing their journey could be raised. These persons have been quartered in the African M. E. church, South Washington. The building is not a large one, and this number of people, with all their baggage and earthly goods, crowded into it, affords but little more than standing room, to say nothing of eating and sleeping accommodations. We entered the church, and pressed our way to the pulpit platform, where some of the leading men of the party were stationed, and a good opportunity was offered, to look upon the mass of persecuted humanity. The great majority were women and children, about fifty belonging to the same party, chiefly able bodied men, passed through here a few weeks ago on their way to Indiana, to make preparations for the coming of their wives and children, who have been detained here. The privations and inconveniences which such a number of persons, huddled together, were obliged to undergo, would seem unendurable. Disease and death must follow their being crowded in such narrow quarters, for any length of time, breathing a fetid atmosphere. No one with whom we conversed, expressed the slightest regret of having left the old home; they all told the same story, why they left the South. They said the wages for men in North Carolina, is from thirty to forty cents a day; this is not paid in money, but in orders for pork, corn-meal, groceries, etc., for which they are charged exorbitant prices.

After a season of hard work, in consequence of this cheating, they came out poor; their wives and children suffered for food and proper clothing. They say, their minds were up to stand it no longer, and if they die in the attempt to get a home in a land of freedom, they prefer that, rather than endure the wrongs to which they have been subjected. Among the reasons these refugees give for being short of money, to carry them to the end of their journey is, the railroad charged them rates unexpectedly exorbitant, especially for their children, of whom their number is largely made up. About $2,000 is needed to carry them through, and make them comfortable; this sum is being raised by charitable citizens, and in a few days they will all more than be provided for. Up to the present time, the colored refugees, who have gone to Indiana, have been well received, and have readily found employment. But just now, some of the Democratic faith, who care more for party, than down-trodden humanity, are attempting to create the belief, this exodus movement, is a Republican plot, again, to overthrow the Indiana Democracy, and turn the State over to the Republicans, by the introduction of negro voters. If the Indiana hoisters, should really get frightened over this, it would not be surprising if they should slam the door against the further incoming of colored emigrants.

BRIEFLETS.

—Shut the door.
—Night of prayer.
—Only a week before Christmas.
—Don't throw the ashes into the street.
—The Odd Fellows dance at Apollo hall to-night.
—The ice men are making ready for their harvest.

—Burglars made a raid in Beloit a few days ago and got fifteen cents. No wonder they are discouraged.

—Mr. and Mrs. P. M. Pryor, of Waupun, arrived last evening. Mrs. Pryor will remain until New Years.

—Justice Prichard is wrestling to-day with the Hofmeister-Vaughan case, involving the possession of a barn.

—District Attorney Sale was able to be out to-day, and a full and speedy return of strength and health is expected.

—The freight trains were a little behind time to-day owing to the cold and the hard wheeling, but passenger trains were prompt.

—Beloit has sent up two tramps for thirty days each. One was an old man, the other a young man, but both were out of work.

—The militiamen can sleep easy now. The Beloit strikers have gone back to work, and no blood shed, and no prospect for war.

—Martin Halverson was able to get down to business to-day, having almost wholly recovered from the injury received by the treacherous ax blade.

—Beloit is to have a new paper called the Beloit Outlook. J. A. Truesdell is its editor and publisher, and its first number will appear Saturday.

—In Justice Wickham's court to-day the Oakley larceny case is on trial, in which defendant stands accused of stealing a portion of a harness.

—Thomas J. Cairns, is still confined to his house by illness. He was able to get out about two weeks ago, but since then has been quite ill again.

—Physical and vocal gymnastics, at Mrs. S. R. Noon's school room on Friday evenings. All interested are invited to attend these classes, and join in the exercises. Admission only five cents.

—The first ward is beginning to feel the revival in trade. A grocery store is to be started right in the residence portion, and the colored folk talk of locating their church near by the same corner.

—Only six months ago the fellow whose thermometer stood a few degrees higher than any other, went to the head. Now the struggle is for the one that gets nearest the bulb. The low spot wins the pot now.

—Clarence Clark is feeling better than when he first returned from law school studies at Madison. He expects to return by the 6th of January, and by that time will have doubtless regained his accustomed vigor.

—Thor Gunderson was so drunk last night that he did not see for the officers nipping him the frost doubtless would. As it was he was picked up and cared for at the jail, and this morning paid his fine and costs amounting to about $5.

—The Shimeal case still occupies the attention of the Circuit Court, with the prospect of dragging on for a day or two longer. It has already occupied more time than was expected, and the contest on both sides has been sharp and the questions searching.

—The morning paper humbly apologizes for having given as an "original" editorial, an article which had been printed in several other papers a month ago, and makes the excuse that "the devil" was responsible for not giving credit to whom credit was due. When the devil elicits a paper, the devil is always to pay.

—Ed. E. Wells and wife have forsaken Chicago for the present, and are making Janesville their home. Mr. Wells expects to enter into partnership with Arthur Conant, his wife's brother, who is in the grocery business, in Cannon's block. He is an enterprising and experienced business man and would give additional strength to the enterprise.

—Hon. J. B. Cassaday returned last evening after a two weeks trip into the Southwest. During his absence he has travelled over three thousand miles, and not only has had a chance to get whatever rest comes from change, but also to observe many things of interest, some of which are narrated in another column, and which we are sure our readers will gladly peruse.

—Imperial French twills for waist lining, warranted perspiration proof. This is a new article, made by only one Company in America. The goods are very desirable, and in fact almost indispensable for the lining of dresses. The price is 30 cents. The same goods retail in Paris at 55 cents. Smith & Bostwick have secured the agency for Southern Wisconsin, where you can find all the staple colors.

—Fred Richter, who was accused of taking a $10 note from a lot of bills which Frank Castler was throwing around in the grocery store of the former, is in trouble about the matter again. He was acquitted of the criminal charge, but afterwards a judgment was obtained against him for about $15, to cover Castler's loss, and last night Constable Pratt gobbled his body and lodged it in jail to secure the judgment. Too much cider was at the bottom of the whole affair, and it has ripened into quite a serious matter.

—Miss Minnie Holdridge, who is now instructor in elocution at Lawrence University, Appleton, returned home this morning for her holiday vacation. Tomorrow night she has an engagement to give readings in Watertown. She has called to read in other places also during her vacation, but has not decided to accept them as yet. Her many friends here will gladly welcome her home again, and will rejoice that she has met with such marked success in her new position, through it was just as all expected.

—The next entertainment and social to be given by the Temple of Honor is to be on Monday evening Dec. 29. A dime entertainment is to occupy the first part of the evening, at which there will be speech-making and music. The Pomeroy Glee Club, and Prof. Boston are among those expected to take part. A special detail of the Guards under command of Lieutenant Glass will give a special drill. Following the entertainment there will be a dance, for which Anderson's orchestra has been engaged. The occasion will be a joyous one throughout.

—The presentation of various portions of the Merchant of Venice last evening, at Lappin's Music hall, did not draw well, there being only about seventy-five persons present. The participants improved on their renditions of the former evening, but still, of course, came far from a true presentation of the play. No one would be foolish enough to expect them to accomplish such a difficult task with great success. They didn't promise to do so, nor did they pretend to be able to do so, but they showed that they had studied the play, and gave the audience the benefit of their study, and inspired others to a more careful perusal of its beauties. As a study, and a means of development such an attempt is praiseworthy, but as an entertainment merely, it is far from what the public demand.

TRAVELERS, stop at the ASTOR HOUSE, NEW YORK.

THE FOGARTY CASE.

The change of venue asked, for and granted in the Fogarty murder case, will cause the case to be tried at Elkhorn in Walworth county. The earliest date at which it can be heard is the second week in February, so that the delay will be about two months. Considering Mrs. Fogarty's condition this delay may cause a still further one.

THE WEATHER.

REPORTED BY PHENIX & EVENSEN, DRUGGISTS.

The thermometer at 6 o'clock last evening stood at 3 degrees below; at 1 o'clock a. m. to-day at 14 degrees below; at 7 o'clock a. m. at 13 degrees below, and at 1 o'clock p. m. at zero.

The indications to-day are for the upper Mississippi and lower Missouri valleys and upper lake region, warmer south and west winds, partly cloudy weather, occasional light snow, and falling barometer.

WON HER FIRST CASE.

The Madison Democrat, with the above caption gives a lengthy account of a case tried in that city before Justice Bailey last Saturday, the parties to which were William Welch, plaintiff, and Eliza Burdick, defendant. Miss Lavinia Goodell, whom all know here was attorney for the plaintiff, and Prof. J. H. Carpenter for the defendant. The Democrat says:

Plaintiff's attorney was beaming with wit and sharp and decisive repartees, much to the delight of a dozen young law students who had assembled to hear how the female attorney conducted her case.

In summing up, Miss Goodell was very clear, and all her points were well taken so said all concerned. She won the case—which, we believe, is her first in our city—it being that the defendant pay three dollars damages and the cost of the suit.

PLEASURES OF HOME.

Last evening about seventy-five friends gathered at the spacious residence of Mr. and Mrs. C. S. Jackman, in response to invitations extended to that worthy couple. The guests were most hospitably received and their wants attentively cared for. The company was not so large as to cause a crush, and room was given for all to join in the merry dance, who so desired. The parlors presented a gay scene, and the spirit of true enjoyment seemed to peep out of every nook and corner. At an appropriate hour refreshments were served, and while it is quite customary to speak well of this feature of social gatherings, and rightly so, for they are generally worthy of praise, yet in this respect the occasion last evening was specially marked. The refreshments were not merely elaborate, but were served so temptingly, were so choice and palatable, that they called forth many special compliments from the guests that were heart-rending. The gathering was a success in all respects. All enjoyed it, and they could not help but do so, for the arrangements were made with an attentiveness and executed with a hospitality, which made the reception most happy to those who were honored by being called upon to participate in it.
